

Master of Science in Business of Fashion - FIT Student Fast-Track

Sharpen your business acumen for the fashion and beauty industries

The Rutgers Business School Master of Science in Business of Fashion (MSBF) is honored to partner with the Fashion Institute of Technology. FIT students can now take advantage of a special fast-tracked admissions process, not offered to any other school. This business school master's degree provides requisite advanced business knowledge crucial in leadership roles in today's markets.

Certain perks and waivers are being offered only to FIT students as part of our ongoing collaborative efforts with the Baker School of Business and Technology. The result loosely mimics a "4+1" program and helps students solidify their graduate plans early. Matriculated applicants will be able to earn a Masters degree from Rutgers within as little as two semesters from graduation from FIT. Students who plan on working full time once they graduate can enter the flex program or the part time option. All program courses are taught in the evenings and weekends, to accommodate working professionals' schedules.

Classes will be held at our satellite location in Jersey City, just a few short train stops away from Manhattan
